Acts 5 is an account of Ananias and Sapphria. The couple are well known for greed and lying. Verses one through eleven tell what happened.

A plot of ground was sold for a certain sum of money. The two agreed to sell the land and make a financial contribution to the people of the church. They told everyone that they were giving the whole amount to the church, so as to attempt to achieve high praise from the brothers and sisters. Their plan was foiled by the Lord, who called them out for that kind of decision.

It is not recorded in the text, but it is not too much to assume that one of them had the initial thought, and may well have led the other into that terrible decision. It could never be proven that it happened that way, but it is certainly possible.

Remember Proverbs 1.10ff, "My son, if sinful men entice you...If they say to you, 'Come along with us...we will get all sorts of valuable things,' do not go along with them." These wise words apply to many moments.
