This study challenges me. It challenges many aspects of my OWN life. I want to look like a contented person who is living a godly life. I want to learn from these horrible examples, we will look at today, and I want my life to be so far away from those. I want God to think of me as the one who trusts Him, even when I am doing without something in an immediate way. I do not want to want more than what God wants for me.

This touches nearly every area of my life. It has to do with money I have been given. It has to do with “things” that are at my house. It examines my heart, in relation to these things. I am alarmed at how I think about money, and I must not allow myself to “think” for me, but for God’s word to show me the way.

If you want to get rich, then you had better look out. Serious temptations are already in pursuit to find you, and your soul is in danger in that condition. Many want to “succeed,” and what they really mean is to be rich.

Let’s learn, together, what God wants today.

Alex

Lunch for Our Golden Age

There will be a lunch (pickup or delivery) provided for our Golden Age members on March 13. We will need volunteers (preferably our 2nd grade and up kids and parents) to help us put together these meals and perhaps deliver them. If you can help, please let Scott know.

Education Program

If you have taught in our education program in the last two years, Scott would like an email or text with your thoughts/opinions/experiences concerning our curriculum. We are trying to make a determination concerning whether or not this current setup is the best for our teachers and students and would value your input.
