The instinctual response when we fail is to look around us and survey the damage that is done. The most basic response is to examine yourself first for damage, then examine your surroundings. It hurts to admit, but there are times in my life where I have seemingly escaped the damage of my failure only to look around and see tremendous damage done to those in my sphere of influence. It is in those moments that we fully come face to face with our failure, when our failure inflicts pain and discomfort on those around us. The world would tell us that as long as we are personally unscathed, nothing else should matter. However, that is not how God's Word works.

In today's study, we examine a tremendous failure that cost the life of a man who was simply trying to assist the king in his wishes. As David attempted to bring the Ark of the Covenant back to Jerusalem, it is his lack of attention to God's commanded details that end the life of Uzzah. In that moment, there is no doubt that David felt tremendous sorrow and regret. However, it is important to realize that David returned back to the Holy Scriptures and tried again. In that second attempt we find triumph, worship, praise, and redemption.

The application for us today is in realizing that no matter how far you have fallen or how many times you have failed, the gift of grace is within your reach. Will you return to the Word of God today and examine where it is you are lacking? And if so, will you have the courage to admit failure and seek redemption?
-Scott

Sick

Renee Owens had surgery to remove a cyst inside her tibia bone. They filled the void left from the cyst with a calcium composite that her body will turn into bone. She will be in a cast for several weeks, with no weight allowed on the leg. She will eventually go back to wearing the boot. Recovery time is about three months.

Nancy Trousdale had a stent placed Tuesday. They have placed her on blood thinner for two other blockages.

Andy Eady had a hip replacement last week.

Linda Chambers will have back surgery next month.

Frances McCune is scheduled to have an MRI regarding neck and knee surgery. Her brother, James Oliver, is not doing well at this time.

Eddie Maxwell had knee surgery and is undergoing therapy. He is still in a lot of pain.

Todd Gordon is undergoing treatments.

Ronald Garrett, neighbor to Floyd & Millie, has colon cancer. He will have surgery tomorrow and his wife, Jan, has asked for our prayers.

Sherrie Comer, sister-in-law to Faye Bedingfield, fell and broke her hip and shoulder.

Brian Ogletree, brother-in-law to Nicholas Wright, has had two major surgeries to remove tumors.

Lisa Roberts, Ruthie Whitley, and Will Wright, relatives of Millie Goode, are having health problems.

Larry Chapman, father to Robin Blankenship (member at Mt. Carmel), is in the hospital in serious condition.
