No one likes to find out they are wrong. No one likes to be told they are wrong. Absolutely no one likes to be proven wrong. However, there are times when finding out you are wrong about something can change the very course of your day, your week, or even your life. There is a distinct need for humility in our world, especially when it comes to the prospect of being incorrect or misinformed on things. In our lesson this morning, we are going to examine three different places in Scripture where someone came face to face with being wrong. The hope is that by studying these reactions we can grow as Christians and realize what we must do to be a true child of God.

Tonight, we step into Philippians chapter 2 and look at the phrase "Lights in the World." There is a lot of darkness around us when it comes to the things that we see, hear, and deal with on a daily basis. However, it is not permissible for a true child of God to sit idly by and remain in the darkness. We are called to be children of light, a city on a hill, and lights in the world. If your light is dim, snuffed out, or perhaps it just needs the cover taken off of it, today is the day for those changes to take place. It is our duty to serve our Master in the way that He has commanded. One of those ways is to take responsibility for our spiritual life and our spiritual influence.
