

He has made everything beautiful in its time. He has also set eternity in the human heart; yet no one can fathom what God has done from beginning to end.

While I readily admit that 2021 was not the best year in the history of the world, it does seem odd that we are at the end. The initial thought that crosses my mind is to consider all the things that have happened this year and try to make some type of application to learning from those things. However, I think it to be more important to focus on where we are currently and where we should be heading in 2022.

3 Goals for Me in 2022:

1. Hear more from the word of God.

- I desperately want to hear and read more from the Bible. We are excited to have a Bible reading plan that will be easy to follow and maintain in 2022. If we will commit to this reading plan, we will make it through the word of God twice in the year. What better goal to set for ourselves than to commit more of God's word to our minds?

2. Spend more time in prayer.

- I want to spend more time conversationally with God. I often pray to God, but sadly, I feel like those are prayers of rote memorization or prayers of "have-to." I desire to spend more time talking to God as "Abba Father" and inviting Him into more and more parts of my life. I pray for you all that you commit to this type of relationship with God. It will be life-changing.

3. Fellowship.

- It has been an awful 18 months for fellowship. We have had some spot moments where we have been able to enjoy some time together, but for the most part, those times have been severely hindered. I look forward to inviting you and your families into our home for a meal and for fellowship. We love our family here and cannot wait to spend more time with you in the future.

These goals go hand in hand with our study this morning. It is not enough to make a "resolution" each January, these things should revolutionize our lives and create in us a deeper connection to our God.
