We are going to investigate a passage that the world is taking and trying to force conclusions that fit their sinful lives. When people sin, or want to sin, they will try to disconnect themselves from God's word, and one way they do that is to twist the word of God. The result of such twisting is not the truth. To find yourself holding doctrines, or behavior expectations, that are false will be to fail to stay on the narrow path (Mt 7.13-14).

I pray that our study will be cohesive, so that our beginning points, this morning, can be carried into the evening hour of worship. Make plans to take active notes, so you can follow the context we will be examining. You have a responsibility to make sure the things I say are true. You will better keep up with what I say, if you will write down the thoughts that are presented. Then, you will be able to re-think the text this week, when you reflect on what you wrote from God's word.

There are so many things out there that compete for our spiritual attention. We must be careful to guard against ideas that rob passages of their context, especially when such ideas spring from the hearts of men who do not seek to honor God.

Let's learn together all day...

Alex
