Last week, we began our study concerning the need for us to walk in step with God. The idea of being in cadence is a concept understood in almost every facet of our lives. We understand the need to be in step at work with our bosses and fellow employees, we understand the need for everyone to be on the same page when it comes to what is happening at home, and we even understand the need for the church to be on the same page when it comes to our mission. Therefore, this particular set of lessons is not necessarily geared towards new information as much as it is a reminder of what Scripture tells us concerning our connection to God.

This week, we look deeper into the phrase "walking in step" as it pertains to our relationship with the Spirit. There are multiple locations in Scripture that lead us to a working knowledge of how important it is to be connected to the Spirit as promised by God through His Son and His apostles. As we look into this passage this morning, I pray that we are open to the changes that might need to be made so that we can be in step with the Spirit or encouraged to continue our walk and grow stronger in our connection.
