Stephen, the disciple of Jesus, and a deacon in the church in Jerusalem, was defending his Lord to some Jews of Cyrene in Acts 6. He is accused of blaspheming Moses and God (6.11). As a result of this false testimony, he is brought before the Sanhedrin (6.12). When he asked to defend himself, he speaks boldly about who Jesus was. During that verbal exchange he provided many convincing arguments from scripture that proved Jesus' identity. The religious leaders did not accept his message, and it brought out this conclusion, from Stephen, that identifies the disposition of their hearts:

You are stiff necked people! Your hearts and ears are still uncircumcised. You are just like your ancestors: You always resist the Holy Spirit! Was there ever a prophet your ancestors didn't persecute? They killed the Righteous One. And now you have betrayed and murdered Him—you who have received the law that was given through angels but have not obeyed it.

This will be our text today as we listen to God's word and learn from it.

Join us in the search of the scriptures.
