THIS MORNING: There are first dates, first butterflies in the stomach, anniversaries of first dates/kisses/etc, rumors of engagements, (nowadays) over-the-top engagement plans, "she said yes" parties, plans for a wedding, "she said yes to the dress" social media posts, bachelor/bachelorette trips, rehearsal dinners, rehearsals, and eventually, a wedding ceremony that everyone will be in awe of.

That is what makes a wedding... but what makes a marriage?

The marriage itself truly has nothing to do with the rest of those items listed above. A marriage involves sacrifice, hurt feelings, dealing with disappointment and sadness, and ultimately joy over the fact that you and your spouse have found a way to make it work. With that being said, not every marriage ends with that result (joy) and some will end prematurely due to the bad decisions of one or both spouses, selfishness, or learned incompatibility. What can we do as a church family to help prevent that pain and that sadness? That is what we begin to look at today... I regularly pray for the families here and today is no different -- I pray that you and your spouse, you and your kids are growing spiritually in such a way that God will be honored and your marriage can truly be blessed.

TONIGHT: We would love to see you all back tonight for our 4th Sunday PM singing night!
