Church of Christ

August 09, 2026

"The unfolding of your words gives light; it imparts understanding to the simple." -- Psalm 119:130

I might be the most directionally ignorant person you have ever met. Once I have been to a place, I can usually give you a general idea of how to get there, but if you are asking me to remember county road numbers or intricate details, you will be disappointed.

On the other hand, my oldest brother is a savant when it comes to remembering directions, numbers, house locations, etc. He has worked for UPS for nearly 30 years and back before GPS was standard on every phone and/or car, he was given the nickname "MattQuest" because all the drivers knew they could call him and he would tell them how to get where they were going.

The difference between the two of us when it comes to driving places is astonishing. However, I take great pride knowing that when it comes to following the directions of Scripture, both of us are on equal footing. We both search the Scriptures and then follow the directions contained within to find our place in this world. I challenge all of us today to check (and re-check) our direction to make certain we are following the words of God.

Fifth Sunday Contribution – August 30

All contributions over our monthly budget of $50,000 will be donated to the Scotland Mission Work led by brother Adam Barr. They are currently in the middle of raising money for a building and have raised about 25% of the total. Banks in the United Kingdom do not lend money to non-profits so they must have 80% of the money in hand before beginning construction.
